Fort Worth CPA Named Chairman of Texas Accounting Organization

Allyson B. Baumeister Named 2015-2016 Chairman of Texas Society of CPAs

DALLAS (July 22, 2015) — Fort Worth certified public accountant Allyson B. Baumeister was recently elected chairman of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants (TSCPA). Baumeister will serve a one-year term as the Society's volunteer leader and will chair the organization's board of directors, which sets policy, manages programs and oversees activities designed to serve Texas CPAs.

Baumeister is a partner at the public accounting firm Sanford, Baumeister & Frazier, LLP in Fort Worth. She assists businesses of all sizes, maintaining a primary focus on business tax and consulting. Baumeister serves clients in a variety of industries, including oil and gas, manufacturing, professional services, and trusts and estates.

Baumeister is actively involved with the American Institute of CPAs (AICPA) and has served as a member of the board of directors and AICPA council, among other positions. She is also involved in the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and Faith Presbyterian Church of Aledo.

Baumeister received her undergraduate degree in accounting and graduated Magna Cum Laude from Texas A&M University in 1984. She was awarded the CPA of the Year Award from the Fort Worth Chapter in 2011 and also received Fort Worth Business Press' Great Women of Texas Award in 2009.

ABOUT TSCPA

The Texas Society of CPAs is a nonprofit, voluntary, professional organization representing Texas CPAs. The society has 20 local chapters statewide and has nearly 28,000 members, one of the largest in-state memberships of any state CPA society in the United States. TSCPA is committed to serving the public interest with programs that advance the highest standards of ethics and practice within the CPA profession.
